As a golf course architect, designer, and "dirt sculptor," Jeff, a.k.a. "Baron von Sand Trap," has spent decades in the trenches, literally, building maddening and seemingly impossible courses that help create the love/hate relationship with this game most golfers can't resist. His unconventional, interactive approach to golf travel is a master class of architectural critique based on the reflected brilliance of Dye-abolical designer Pete Dye, and the uninhibited stories of working alongside the legend himself.
